

1.

"EUROPE CAN'T TAKE THEM ALL"

VS.

#WEHAVESPACE

The majority of refugees worldwide are not in Europe, with more than 80% living in developing countries. Still, many people believe we can't accommodate any more refugees, often stating we have „already taken enough“. But looking at the data, what do we find? According to the latest numbers from Greece, there are 118,000 refugees and migrants in the country, of which 76,000 are in the mainland and 42,000 live in camps on the islands. Creating a new and more humane migration policy that fixes the fractured system introduced after the crafting of the EU-Turkey deal is urgent, and it is time for the EU to design a common EU refugee policy. #WeHaveSpace

EUROPE MUST ACT.

who are we?

We are a social movement demanding a new and humane migration policy.

our key goals:

- 1. To immediately decongest the Aegean Islands through fair relocation across Member States.
- 2. To replace the EU-Turkey Agreement with a fair and humane EU policy on migration.
- 3. To advocate for dignified and legal conditions of reception across Europe.

what have we done so far?

- _Petition (reach 95,000+ individuals, 160+ NGOs, 10 MEPs)
- _Meeting with Ylva Johansson
- _Cities Must Act reaches 40+ cities

how to get involved?

europemustact.org